CHANGES TO THE SOCIAL SECURITY CODE

Failure to communicate the employee's admission to the social security:

The employment relationship is established on the first day of the 12th month prior to the month in which the breach occurred.

As a result of the failure to communicate the admission of an employee to the social security services, the employment relationship will now be considered to have been established on the first day of the 12th month prior to the month in which the breach occurred (and no longer on the sixth month).

In case of repeated failure to comply with this obligation, accessory sanctions are now foreseen.
