

Legal Shots

Caregivers' regime: extra protection

Caregiver employees are not obliged to perform overtime work.

Employees with 'caregiver' status cannot be dismissed without the prior opinion from the competent supervisory authority, as is the case for pregnant employees or that have recently given birth, breastfeeding, or workers on parental leave.

Also, the caregiver employees are not obliged to work overtime for as long as the need for assistance persists.

Meet our Team:

