

Legal Shots

Employees Have a New Guarantee

Employers are forbidden to prevent employees from having other professional activities.

As of May 1st, employees have a new guarantee: employers are forbidden to prevent employees from having another professional activity or to treat them unfavourably because of this. An exception is made when there are reasons related to health and safety or professional secrecy.

Nevertheless, the duty of loyalty of the employee remains.

Meet our Team:

