

Legal Shots

New obligation regarding the Information Duty

Proof of the transmission or receipt of the information must be kept

The employer must keep proof of the transmission or receipt of the information contained in the documents supporting the fulfilment of the information duty. This information must be provided whenever requested, namely by the Supervisory Authority for the Work Conditions.

Meet our Team:

