

Legal Shots

CHANGES TO TEMPORARY EMPLOYMENT CONTRACTS

The number of renewals for fixed-term temporary employment contracts is reduced from six to four.

The number of times a fixed-term temporary employment contract can be renewed is reduced from six to four.

Also, the maximum duration of successive temporary employment contracts for different user companies, concluded with the same employer, or company of the same group or that has common organisational structures, is four years.

Meet our Team:

