

Legal Shots

Employment contract with student on holiday or during school break

This type of employment contract is not subject to written form nor dependent on the working student status.

There is a new type of employment contract: with a student on holiday or during school break.
This contract does not have to be written and does not depend on a working student status, although the employer is required to inform social security.

Meet our Team:

